RALLY FOR RELIEF OF B. B. A.

ENTHUSIASTIC MASS MEETING AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Provision Made for Urgent Needs of Institution—Dr. Burton Asked to Assist in Raising Funds.

Owing to the destruction yesterday afternoon of the boys' dormitory of the Bryan Baptist Academy, a mass meeting was held in the parlors of the First Baptist church last evening for the purpose of supplying the immediate needs of that institution. A small but very enthusiastic company of people were present at the meeting.

At 8 p. m. A. W. Buchanan, chairman of the board of directors of the academy, called the meeting to order and briefly stated its purpose. He then suggested that there be a round table discussion of the means for betterment of conditions at the academy.

Prof. McDonald, president of the academy, was called on to state the conditions existing at the school. He said the first thing to be considered was the building of a new dormitory to supply the pressing demand for quarters for the students. He also stated that several of the boys had lost all their clothing in the fire, and as the majority of them were poor something should be done to assist them.

Dr. Weaver took the floor and emphasized the fact that co-operation is needed to accomplish the desired end. He also expressed himself in favor of constructing a substantial building.

Mr. L. M. Hewitt, secretary of the Commercial Club, stated that he was present to tender assistance of the club.

All present were in favor of constructing a substantial brick building to cost not less than $10,000.

H. O. Boatwright moved that Dr. Weaver and Prof. McDonald be instructed to go before the Baptist educational board, which meets at Waco today, and ask for assistance amounting to $5000, to construct a three-story brick building to be used for a dormitory and also administrative purposes.

The motion was seconded and carried. A committee composed of Eugene Edge, W. C. Davis and J. Webb Howell was appointed to co-operate with a similar committee to be appointed by the Commercial Club for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions of money for the proposed new dormitory and administration building.

It was also decided to request Dr. A. J. Barton, of Waco, to come to Bryan and assist in raising the necessary funds for the new building.

Prof. C. M. Bullock made an earnest plea for supplying the urgent needs of the boys who had lost all their clothing and personal effects. The boys were many, self-respecting young fellows and would not accept charity. What they wanted was immediate relief, with the understanding that the contributors were to be reimbursed as soon as practicable. Twenty-one of the men present pledged themselves to lend the boys enough money to purchase necessities, without interest, for an indefinite time.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Dr. Weaver.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Colonial.

At the Colonial theater last evening there was not the usually large audience present on account of the many other attractions and meetings in the city. The play, "A Prince of His Race," was presented and was indeed a beautiful melodrama of the nature of "Strong Heart" and other Indian dramas. Mr. Oscar Graham, who assumed the principal role, was splendid and he was ably supported by his company. The plot of the play was interesting and the lines of the actors were pleasing. It was a good show, and while the audience was not large in numbers, appreciation of the play was manifested by enthusiastic applause.

The Amuse-U Theater.

The management of the Amuse-U theater has secured a troupe of high-class vaudeville artists for this week, who are giving the people of Bryan a rare treat in this line of amusement. Wilson and Bledsoe in vaudeville are pleasing and the pictures are above the average. The feature act of the show is the "Illusion Act," in which a woman is apparently cremated before the eyes of the audience, and the illusion is perfect. There will be an entire change of program tonight.

The Texas Militia.

Among the comments upon the action of certain officers of the Texas state guard in seeking to resign their positions because of the Manley verdict, one by the St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger is especially interesting because the editor has been a prominent guard officer for years, a Spanish-American war veteran, and an earnest and sincere advocate of the need for military training and the support of the state militia. The Messenger says:

"It is a pretty military spectacle that is presented by those officers of the Texas National Guard and those companies of the same organization that have signified their intention of leaving the service because of the conviction of one of their members of having killed a man during President Taft's visit to the South a year ago. This action is taken with the intention of administering a rebuke to the state for sending the man to prison. It is about as far from the obligations of a soldier as it is possible to imagine anything to be. It twangs more of schoolboy petulance than it does of men subject to the call of their country for or die service. It is the infusion into the military establishment of the spirit of strike which is so rife the world over today, and strike in the military in times of war is called by an ugly name and its punishment is swift and stern.

"But in days of piping peace it can't be expected that those tin soldiers of the terrible bloodthirsty South will even be severely reprimanded by Southern popular opinion, which is fairly easy-going in the consideration of its own shortcomings. Whether or no that militiaman was guilty of wrong plays no part from the military viewpoint in the action of the men in quitting. It can hardly be said that things have come to such a pass in this country that a single man can be bigger than the state. It would be a good thing to let the men leave the ranks with thank offerings from the rest of the country, for surely they are not of such stuff as the real soldier is made.

"It will also be interesting to note whether this rebuke to a state government causes a popular tempest, in proportion to what was stirred up by the recent silence at West Point."

NO GAME WITH BAYLOR

Baptists Sore Over A. & M.'s Victory and Want a Chance, but Former Refuses to Play Game.

Baylor university has issued a formal challenge to A. & M. college to play a post-season game of football to decide the disputed or so-called disputed championship.

In the first place, there is no dispute in the matter. A. & M. won the championship fairly and Baylor has no strings on the honors. At the first of the season Student Manager Scott Moore sent contracts to the Baylor team for a game, but they were returned to him unsigned, and Baylor refused to play a game with A. & M.

The football team has gone out of training, the suits have been turned in and the boys have settled down to hard school work, and there is really not a chance for A. & M. to give the sore bunch a game. Manager Moore is right in refusing to play, as Baylor treated the team of the college in a shameful way by not arranging a game during the season.

A. & M. holds without doubt the state championship, and the honors she has received are justly placed.

FLEMING REFUSED CHANGE OF VENUE.

[Special to The Bryan Eagle.]

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 29.—Judge R. B. Seay, in the criminal district court this morning, overruled the application for a change of venue in the case of Fred Fleming, former president of the Western Bank & Trust Company, which failed.

Fleming's attorneys this afternoon filed a motion to quash the indictment. It is believed that Judge Seay will overrule the motion and order the trial to commence.

CHARGED WITH SENDING BLACK HAND LETTER.

Question Whether Two Letters Were Written by Same Hand.

[Special to The Bryan Eagle.]

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 29.—The trial of S. B. Bewly, charged with writing a letter to J. A. Kemp, a wealthy Wichita Falls citizen, demanding $10,000 on a threat to kidnap his son, began in the federal court here this morning. The government sought to show that Bewly obtained the paper on which he wrote the letter to Kemp while in jail and mailed it when he was sent to work on the streets.

A former letter by Bewly asking Kemp for a position and the threatening letter were pronounced by handwriting experts today as being written by different persons. Kemp declares they were written by the same hand.

MONEY IN NEWS

Fowls Swallowed Gold Nuggets dug Up in Remains of Foundation of Building.

[Special to The Bryan Eagle.]

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 29.—Nuggets were unearthed and gold was found in the fowls that scratched in the dirt November 19 at the Quaker mill ranch, near Hayford, ten miles west of Spokane, on the Spokane Falls & Cheney electric line of the Washington Water Power Company, where excavations were being made for a building.

Mr. McPerron stated the facts to Lewis Rutler, secretary of the Spokane & Eastern Trust Company, said in giving the information there was no question as to the authenticity of the reports and that the finds would justify an immediate investigation. McPerron expects to personally take charge of the work of mining his ranch, the work to begin at once.

The evidence is such as to lead to the conclusion that other nuggets are to be found in that vicinity. An excavation was being made for a building on the farm when the first discovery was made, and the matter created much excitement among the workers. When a chicken was killed it was examined, as it had been noticed that the chickens had been around where the fresh earth was being thrown, and other small pieces of gold were found.
